Dear Friends of Katmai,

As I look back on the past year, I can't help but feel an overwhelming sense of gratitude. Not only for the warm welcome I've received since joining Katmai Conservancy, but also for the incredible support shown to Katmai National Park and Preserve and Katmai Conservancy by our extraordinary supporters.

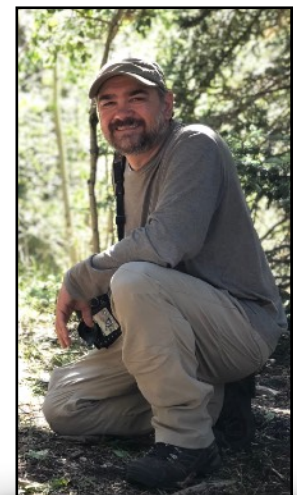

The dedication and commitment of our board, partners, and generous donors like you, has allowed us to not only continue to contribute to Katmai National Park, but also adapt and thrive during a difficult time.

This Annual Report demonstrates the impact of your donation to Katmai Conservancy as we work to conserve, protect, and support Katmai National Park and Preserve and the wildlife who call it home.

I'm proud of what we were able to accomplish in 2021, thanks to your support, and I look forward to the incredible things we'll achieve, together, in 2022.

Thank you,

Guy Runco
Executive Director

2021 SUPPORT FOCUS

TOTAL AID TO PARK: $310,000.00

Each year Katmai Conservancy and Katmai National Park and Preserve agree to an Annual Philanthropic Work Plan, a collaborative work that aligns the identified needs of Katmai National Park with Katmai Conservancy's assessment of interest of their donor community in supporting those needs. The 2021 work plan, totaling over $310,000.000, mainly focused on contributing to our Katmai Visitor Center Building Fund, supporting seasonal Park staff, educational programs, community outreach, and initiatives centered around Brooks Camp and the Brooks River area of Katmai National Park and Preserve.

Interpretation

Provided support for Katmai National Park Seasonal Interpretive Staff, training, and equipment.

2021 brought the highest number of visitors the Brooks Camp Visitor Center has ever recorded: 15,393 bear orientations delivered, up from 14,549 in 2019 (the previous high). With your support, we'll be able to continue to help Katmai National Park meet the demand of a growing visitorship while continuing to support other needs within the Park. Read more about this in the "highlights" section below.

Research

Funded important aerial brown bear abundance research within Katmai National Park and Preserve.

Advances in computing and analytical techniques may now offer a way to use these aerial survey count data to analyze wildlife populations without using costly and invasive tagging or collaring techniques. Read about this research in the "highlights" section below.

Education

Funded Seasonal Interpretive Staff and the equipment necessary to support the valuable explore.org bearcams and the very popular "Fat Bear Week".

Katmai National Park staff worked with explore.org and together delivered 16 bearcam text chats on YouTube and 18 on Disqus, 14 play-by-plays, and 9 live chat programs on a variety of topics. Fat Bear Week also grew this year with the addition of Fat Bear Junior. This program has a huge national and international reach. In 2021, 793,463 votes were cast in the online competition with voters in 50 countries, NPS staff conducted around 40 media interviews and more than 160 news stories were produced in countries around the world. Read more about the work of Katmai's Seasonal Interpretation Staff, supported by a generous grant from explore.org and Annenberg Foundation, in the "highlights" section below.

FUNDING HIGHLIGHTS

KATMAI NATIONAL PARK SEASONAL INTERPRETIVE STAFF

Thanks to a generous grant from our friends at explore.org and the Annenberg Foundation, in 2021 we were able to fully fund nine Interpretation staff positions at Katmai National Park and Preserve. These included one GS-7 Park Ranger, seven GS-5 Park Rangers, and one GS-5 Park Guide.

From Katmai NP Interpretation and Education Manager Amber Kraft: Over the course of the summer seasonal Interpretation staff made 52,053 visitor contacts, in which they provided information and/or education outside the Brooks Camp Visitor Center. Interpretation staff delivered bear safety orientations to incoming visitors, managed visitor safety around brown bears, and assisted visitors at the very popular Brooks Falls Platform by running a wait list and cycling visitors through their turn at the platform.

Interpreters also created and delivered unique program content over the course of the summer season. Staff led a total of 1,232 visitors on tours to the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, the landscape that inspired Katmai's protection as a National Monument. In a year when COVID-19 restrictions limited formal interpretive program offerings, park rangers also provided on-the-fly "pop-up" programs and led informal walks to the Cultural Site, where visitors could connect with 5,000 years of human history in Brooks Camp. In addition, Brooks Camp interpretation staff reached virtual audiences through their media contributions, including live web chats on explore.org, blogs, website content, social media posts, and NPS App content.

2021 was an exciting year for our bearcams. Staff worked with explore.org and together delivered 16 bearcam text chats on YouTube and 18 on Disqus, 14 play-by-plays, and 9 live chat programs on a variety of topics. Fat Bear Week also grew this year with the addition of Fat Bear Junior. This program has a huge national and international reach. In 2021, 793,463 votes were cast in the online competition with voters in 50 countries, NPS staff conducted around 40 media interviews and more than 160 news stories were produced in countries around the world.

BROWN BEAR ABUNDANCE RESEARCH

Estimating trends in brown bear abundance using aerial survey data
Project lead: Leslie Skora (Katmai Wildlife Biologist)

From Katmai NP Biologist Leslie Skora: An important part of Katmai’s mission is to protect its large population of brown bears and their habitat. Everything from managing hunting limits, subsistence use, wilderness character, and visitation are impacted by Katmai’s bear population. However, the harsh climate, complex logistics, and resultant expenses have left the park with large gaps in its understanding of these bears.

The park has invested in compiling a long-term data set using aerial surveys to count bears congregating on various salmon spawning streams. The surveys now span 5 decades and serve as an index of timing and abundance of bears and salmon. Yet there is a need to determine if and how Katmai’s brown bear population has changed through time. Advances in computing and analytical techniques may now offer a way to use these aerial survey count data to analyze wildlife populations without using costly and invasive tagging or collaring techniques.

Therefore, my objective is to work with biometrician faculty on a graduate research project to use both the historic aerial surveys and future surveys to analyze trends in bear abundance with robust statistical approaches. The aerial survey data Katmai has collected offer a unique opportunity to investigate broad scale trends in the brown bear population specifically answering how and why the population might be changing over time. In the future, this project should lead to more consistent and efficient aerial surveys and a model unfolding annual survey counts into trends explaining brown bear abundance.

OUR PARTNERS

Explore.Org

We couldn't do what we do without the support and generosity of the largest live nature cam network on Earth, Explore.Org. In addition to providing substantial financial assistance, this amazing organization is also responsible for the Katmai Bear Cams.

Katmai National Park & Preserve

Katmai was established in 1918 to protect the volcanically devastated region surrounding Novarupta and the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Bristol Bay Native Corporation

BBNC is dedicated to responsible development, putting salmon – which has sustained their people for centuries and contributes to the economic health of Alaska – first.
